This is Volume II: IMPLEMENTATION PLAN. The purpose of the study was to re-examine all aspects of the officer professional development system as it has evolved since the 1978 Review of Education and Training for Officers (RETO) Study. This report provides an analysis of every area of officer professional development (Active and Reserve), with particular concentration on education and training out to the year 2025. The recommendations made are designed to transition the Army to a training and education strategy which will more effectively meet tomorrow's challenges. Presented in table format. IMPLEMENTATION PLAN

1. PURPOSE. To provide the step-by-step procedures that will be used to implement CSA approved PDOS policy recommendation.

2. DISCUSSIONS.

a. The implementation plan includes PDOS Transition Team actions; establishment of cells on the Army Staff; the phasing plans, action plans and public affairs plans pertaining to each policy; and a system of periodic reviews to report progress to the Army Leadership.

b. Upon submission of the final report, the PDOS Study Group will reduce in size and revert to a transition team. The PDOS Transition Team will operate through March, 1985 to accomplish the following actions: ensure a full capture and inventory of all documents, electronic data bases, files and background material; coordinate with the implementing groups to determine the most useful way to catalog and transfer data to assist implementation; be available to explain in detail all recommendations, back up rationale and how the analysis was done and to what level of detail and precision. The team will be turning in equipment during the period when no longer needed and will dissolve effective 29 March 1985. The base policies with noted exception have been conceptually approved by the Chief of Staff. The detailed policies to implement the actions have been turned over to the Army Staff for analysis of the most efficient scheduling and use of resources to move toward the desired system. The Army Staff has full responsibility for implementation of detailed PDOS recommendations as they are approved to include progress reports to the CSA.

c. Resource implications included in the appendices were provided to PDOS by the Army Staff, in close coordination with the DA PA&E and COA offices. They are calculated in terms of magnitudes of cost based on the best data available at the time. These estimates will require refinement by implementing agencies as part of their normal programming.

3. IMPLEMENTATION PLANS. Three plans are appended:

a. Phasing Plan. This plan is a schematic representation of the phased implementation of the PDOS recommended system. It is designed to show the interdependence of sequential actions. It contains the related resources year by year in the following area: student manyears per year; staff and faculty manyears per year, both military and civilian; and, the total obligation authority changes in the POM per year in millions of dollars. All dollar costs (see Appendix 1) are based on the following near term analysis assumptions.

(1) Constant FY 85 dollars are used for comparative cost analysis.

(2) Congress will not alter the 20-year retirement system in the near future.

(3) End strength will remain constant during the POM years.

(4) There will be no significant gain in commissioned officer percentage of the total force end strength.

(5) Reserve Components continue to be a major element of the Total Army.

b. Action Plan. The actions required to carry out the implementation in accordance with the Phasing Plan are contained in the Action Plan. The responsible action agencies are identified therein. (see Appendix 2)

c. Public Affairs Plan. The success of the PDOS recommended system for officer professional development hinges on its adequate understanding, acceptance and support by many audiences. For this reason, the PDOS Study Group considered it essential that the implementation plan should include a long range and deliberately orchestrated public affairs plan targeted with specific messages for specific audiences. This plan, geared to the Phasing Plan, is at Appendix 3.

Appendix 3 to ANNEX E Public Affairs Plan

PUBLIC AFFAIRS PLAN

1. PURPOSE. To outline the strategy, objectives, policies, and responsibilities for the marketing and public affairs support of the Professional Development of Officers Study (PDOS) and Army plans that are essential for adequate understanding, acceptance, and support by the officer corps and others if implementation is to succeed.

2. OBJECTIVES.

a. Provide a plan to disseminate the maximum information in a timely manner about detailed recommendations as they are approved for implementation.

b. Initiate an active, short-range public affairs program to provide the general information base from which periodic announcements can be made.

c. Conduct an active long-range public affairs program to ensure continued understanding and support of the PDOS recommended officer development system.

d. Gain officer understanding of the Army officer development system as revised by PDOS recommendations and maintain their confidence in Army professional development programs.

e. Inform the following publics of the conceptually approved PDOS recommendations and their effect in evolving the current system into the desired system.

- (1) Army officer corps in general
- (2) Senior active Army officers
- (3) Officer candidates from all sources
- (4) Reserve Component officers
- (5) Retired general officers
- (6) Congress
- (7) The general public
- (8) Members of professional organizations

f. Support implementation of PDOS approved recommendations.

3. CONCEPT.

a. Execution of plan will be in two phases:

(1) Phase I Short-range. From public announcement of report recommendations through CY 85.

(a) The short-range public affairs effort will provide information now available on conceptually approved PDOS recommendations.

(b) The primary public affairs effort will be directed toward internal audiences.

(2) Phase II Long-range. October 1985 plus.

(a) The long-range public affairs effort will include changes to announced decisions, schedules, and follow-on or related studies, explaining how they will be integrated into the PDOS desired system.

(b) Primary emphasis for the long-range effort will continue to be placed on internal audiences.

b. The following guidance will apply throughout the execution of this plan.

(1) Key concepts and terms to be emphasized and carefully explained are the Warrior Spirit, Mentor, and Self Development. All articles, responses to queries, or information releases must be based on material contained in the PDOS report: Warrior Spirit (Vol I, Chap VI, Sec 2, and Vol III, Annex J), Self-Development (Vol I, Chap VI, Sec 9, and Vol III, Annex H), Mentor (Vol I, Chap VI, Sec 10, and Vol III, Annex I).

(2) Timely public affairs releases will be made as PDOS approved recommendations are scheduled for implementation in accordance with the phasing plans (Appendix 1 to this Annex).

(3) Releases will be directed primarily toward the target audience affected by the recommendation, but will include sufficient coverage of the entire concept to other audiences to eliminate misunderstanding and apprehension.

(4) Reaction to news releases will be closely monitored to assess effectiveness of the public affairs program.

(5) A broad range of media will be used to ensure the widest possible dissemination.

(6) Face-to-face communications will be used to the maximum extent practicable.

(7) Releases will be coordinated through the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel (ODCSPER) to Office of the Chief of Public Affairs (OCPA).

(8) Statements, releases, responses to queries, and articles written about PDOS will emphasize that the aim of the officer professional development system is to provide maximum development of the officer corps to meet the future requirements of the Army.

4. Execution.

a. PDOS Cell.

(1) Prepare draft releases.

(2) Review all news releases prepared by other agencies relating to PDOS recommendations prior to release.

(3) Provide information for coordination thru the Office of Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel (ODCSPER) to the Chief of Public Affairs upon which to base their public affairs releases and support.

b. Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel (ODCSPER).

(1) Review all news releases prepared by other agencies relating to PDOS recommendations prior to publication.

(2) Provide information to the Office of the Chief of Public Affairs, upon which to base public affairs release.
